Educomis—in Print or through Email?

You have the choice. If you would rather have Educomis via email, we can arrange it. Just send the Executive Director an email.

If you like the printed copy, you don't need to tell us. We'll continue to mail it out. Either way, we hope you will continue to pray for those who are serving so faithfully and continue to seek the Holy Spirit's leadership about where and how you should serve at this particular point in your life.

Pen Pals Needed

Pass the word! We need 300 American 7th–12th graders to be pen pals to 7th–12th graders from Thailand. If you have a student or youth group that would like to help, contact the director, of the Universal Pen Pal Project, Kellie Ziesemer, at 513 – 404 – 7211 or universalpenpalproject@yahoo.com.

Update on the Board of Directors

The Board of Directors of the Fellowship of Baptist Educators met in the office of Book-Link International, Inc. in Eubank, KY on August 8 and 9. Nine members and one guest were present. We like to meet there because our members like to bring books they have collected for Book-Link at the same time.

We now have 825 members in 37 states, but we only heard from 57 of you during the past year. When we send a request for a contribution (strictly voluntary), we also send a survey sheet. We would like to hear from more of you about how you are using your skills as educators, so please return the survey even if you cannot contribute. All officers are volunteers and the contributions are used to print and mail our newsletter, Educomis.

The officers elected in 2012 will serve until the 2014 Board meeting. James Hastings from Durham, NC is our President; Les Hill from Lexington, KY is our Vice President/President Elect; Rhea Lamb from Boiling Springs, NC is the Secretary; and Lucille Skaggs from Shelby, NC is our Treasurer.

An interesting fact about President James Hastings is that he is a card carrying member of the Triangle Santa Buddies of North Carolina. Jim has been a professional Santa since 2007 when he retired after 30 years as a special education teacher and trainer with Durham Public Schools. Jim and his wife, Barbara, have participated in many mission activities, including work at the Village of Hope in Kiev, Ukraine, and leading a teacher training conference at the International Baptist Theological Seminary of East Africa, now known as Mount Meru College in Tanzania.

Keep up the good work as you work and witness. Let us hear from you!

Recent News from Our Members

Dr. Bill Greenwood, Jr., a member who lives in Winston-Salem, N.C., is a veteran of two-dozen short-term overseas mission trips.

However, on a missionary journey to Uganda he saw a hunger for learning he had never witnessed before.

Uganda in East Africa lies on the equator, bordered by Sudan to the north, Kenya on the east, Congo on the west and Rwanda and Tanzania in the south and southeast.

"This war-torn nation has some 35 million inhabitants with 50 percent of them under the age of 15. The average family has some six children, often with an additional orphan child or two in the home," Greenwood said. "I went to Uganda to teach 50-60 pastors the Old Testament book of Exodus two hours each day at the Uganda Baptist Seminary, the largest Baptist seminary in Africa," the traveling pastor explained. The seminary has over 500 pastor-students enrolled from Uganda and six surrounding nations.

"Seldom have I seen such hunger for learning. They are reluctant to leave the classroom after the lecture / discussion is over. Most have great difficulty paying the tuition fees of about $30 per person per term which covers also all room, board and travel to the seminary," Greenwood said. God's people in the U.S.A. cover 90 percent of the cost of their education, he added.

The last two of his three weeks in Uganda Greenwood focused on guest lectures in the capitol of Kampala.

"In the mysterious providence of God, a Muslim lady served as our driver and arranger of these many details. I can only say that God used this lady, 'Hoda,' to open many doors for us in a number of middle and high schools, as well as in two of the largest universities in the country," he said.

Greenwood said he had "carte blanche" to teach God's Word in the many schools. Most are private schools, which provide the bulk of the education in Uganda.

As Greenwood spoke in the crowded classrooms, students sat often four to a primitive desk built for two. They unfailingly showed deep respect for all teachers and school staff. Their school buildings were in severe disrepair, with little or no light in the classrooms and tin roofs that leaked when it rained.

Dr. Greenwood's Exodus class at the Uganda Baptist Seminary, Jinja,

"Nevertheless, their hunger for learning was like pouring water on a dry sponge," Greenwood said.

While in Kampala, the retired North Carolina pastor asked the Baptist Seminary to lend him a student helper.

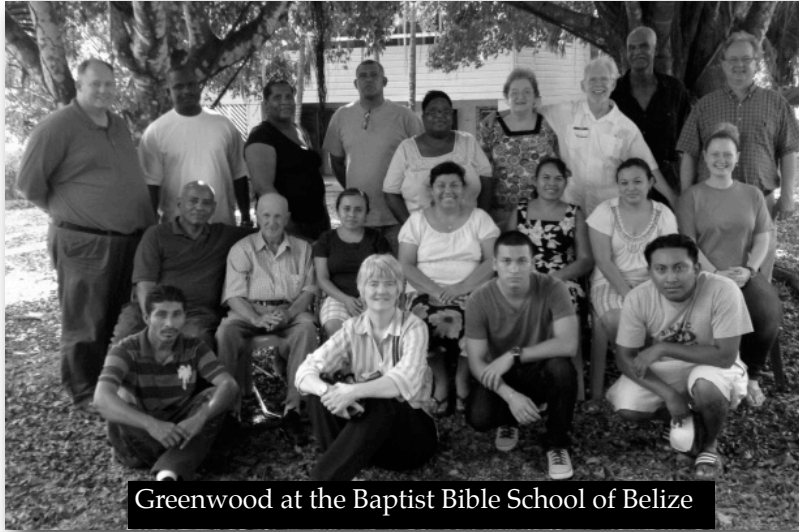

"They awarded me their best faculty lecturer, Herbert Kabuluku, a seasoned professional who knew the city well and aided me, as did Hoda, our Muslim driver/arranger. "Herbert shared the speaking duties with me and I learned much from this godly man," Greenwood said.

When asked what God had taught him during his three weeks in Uganda, Greenwood replied, "How do I describe or explain all that God seemed to teach me in these three short weeks in Uganda? The overriding lesson seems to be that out of their privation, their material want and their desperate struggle for life, the hunger for meaning and purpose, for the things of God, all somehow heighten their openness to the message of Christ, the sure hope of life more abundant. That hunger seems also to stand in sharp contrast with the Western world's dullness to radical Christian commitment, perhaps brought on by our affluence and material prosperity.

"I found their keen interest in the things of God, in the Bible, in the message of Christ to be exceedingly refreshing and a cause for genuine celebration," Greenwood added.

"I kept thinking that if more of our people here in the home base would step out of their bubble, out of their comfort zones and make themselves available to the clear call of God to go into all the world and proclaim the Good News, then there might be more hope for a vibrant body of Christ here in the homeland," he concluded.

Greenwood at the Baptist Bible School of Belize

Some time later Bill Greenwood also taught in the Baptist Bible School of Belize, saying he felt that his students often taught their teachers!

"Our team of teachers from North Carolina came to train a dozen Belize pastors and lay folk in the basics of the Christian life, but the tables soon turned."

Greenwood taught the first half of the Old Testament survey while his pastor, Rev. Todd Haley of Oaklawn Baptist Church taught the class in preaching. The third instructor, Dr. Mark Nickens, taught the New Testament survey course. Students come for a week three times a year, then return home for guided studies between sessions.

Belize is a small Central American country of some 314,000 people just south of Mexico on the Caribbean coast. Formerly known as British Honduras, Belize is the only English speaking country in Central America.

Greenwood said, "It always amazes me to meet and interact with committed Christians in other parts of the world. These Belize believers are no different. Facing a very weak economy with unemployment running over 30%, these students take valuable time away from home and work and come eager to learn more of the Christian life and how to reach their villages. We go to help them, but they bless us with the depth of their discipleship."

Thomas D. Brown, another member from North Carolina can't travel to distant places to teach because he is a prisoner.

Before going to prison, he was a lawyer. Now he has rededicated his life to the Lord and expresses his faith by tutoring other prisoners.

His Sunday school teacher, Gerald Cook, says of him, "I have come to know Tom Brown very well the last four years, and he has served as an inspiration for his ability to stand firm in difficult circumstances. The Lord has really directed his time in prison to refocus his priorities and to serve Him in a steadfast manner. There is no doubt that God has plans for his service when he is released. Tom has helped many prisoners by helping them with their GED and teaching Sunday school."

Erle Dixon, a young man Mr. Brown has been tutoring says, "I can say that now I am a better person than I was five or ten years ago, because now I am more focused on getting my G.E.D. I can also say that I have a very good teacher, Tom Brown."

Southern Philippine Baptist Theological Seminary

"He has made a big difference in my life in helping me get my G.E.D. and walking the path with God." . . . "Once I have [the G.E.D.] I can move on in life and be the husband that my wife always wanted."

A friend of Tom's, Burt Shuford, says, "Tom's letters to me have been full of God's love, hope for the future and humor. In the stories of prison life that he has related to me he has told of the respect and honor that he has earned in the prison population, all clearly arising out of the light of the Lord shining through him in such a dark place. Tom has clearly used his abilities and his love of the Lord to encourage the other inmates in countless ways, including the pursuit of their GED degrees, and has made his "mission field" a much better place. While I cannot speak from direct personal experience regarding his teaching activities with his fellow inmates, I can surely say that if he has been as encouraging to the inmates as he has been to me through his letters, that he has been extraordinarily effective and impactful."

Sarah Snell, a new member, joined so she could receive up-to-date lists of volunteer opportunities. She has already had twenty-five years of ministry in South Korea, Indonesia, Guam, and China and is an active volunteer in her church and in Carolina Senior Care. We are happy that she has joined and will enjoy helping to inform her about new opportunities for service.

Dr. Gordon Miller, who teaches at the Cape Town Baptist Seminary in South Africa, joined looking forward to opportunities to teach in other seminaries around the world after he retires. Welcome, Dr. Miller!

A ministry for pastors in Nicaragua needs study materials in Spanish. If you have these resources or know of a source, please contact Rev. David Webb at United Christian Missions, PO Box 1038, Boiling Springs, NC 28017. His telephone number is 704-434-9047.

Book-Link International, Inc. Shipments

Dr. Les Hill, the FBE Kentucky State Director, writes that in April, Book-Link International, Inc. shipped a small box of approximately 125-130

books to the Southern

Philippine Baptist Theological Seminary

located in the country's southern island of Mindanao. Founded by Southern Baptist mission efforts many years ago, the seminary no longer has financial or personnel assistance from the IMB.

This was a first contact Book-Link has had with the seminary. Shipping costs from Louisville, Kentucky to Davao City, Philippines were reasonable. The seminary should receive the books some time in July. Further shipments may be worked out as Dr. Hill learns about specific needs.

Books to Zambia

Olin Williams, the CEO of Book-Link International, Inc. says, "We shipped a container of materials to Zambia on July 26, 2013. We will be filling a container of books for Shalom Bible Seminary in India beginning July 27, 2013."

Volunteers Pack Materials

At the FBE Board meeting in August, Olin Williams said volunteers come from many states to work at the warehouse to sort and pack materials for shipment, but currently more volunteers are coming from North Carolina than from any other state.

In April a team of ten people from Tuskasee Baptist Association, Sylva, NC came and served at the Book-Link International Inc. warehouse. In January Rev. Gerald Morris, the DOM for Tuskasee Baptist Association and his daughter Grace brought 2800 pounds of materials. A group of five youth and adults from the same association served at Book-Link International in July. A team from Balsam Baptist Church came in August. A group from Long Branch Baptist Church also came in August. A team from Ridgecrest Baptist Church, Franklin, NC was seeking a booking for the end of the summer to serve at Book-Link International.

Bob Lamb of the Fellowship of Baptist Educators says, "We are grateful to the North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union and to North Carolina Baptist Men for featuring this work in their publications."

If you or a group of volunteers would like to help, call 606-379-1734 or 606-379-2140 to arrange with Olin Williams for your visit.

Opportunities to Teach Around the World

Teachers Needed in new School in India

The Hands on Missions International School in Chittoor, India, is seeking committed Christian people to teach Bible, Computer Science, and English from six months to a year. If you can teach one or all of these subjects, they would welcome you. The living quarters are excellent and within walking distance of the school. There is a full modern kitchen and very nice rooms with hot showers and air conditioning in each room. Teachers must raise their own support. The cost is approximately $500 per month for food, lodging, insurance, and transportation. If interested, call Glenn Walker at Hands on Missions in Shelby, N.C. at 704 – 471 – 1150 or Sam Stutts at 828 – 310 – 9803. You can also reach Glenn at homnc@carolina.rr.com
